BARKSTON ASH

Barkston Ash is a popular village set off the A162 some five miles south of Tadcaster/A64 and within easy commuting distance of both Leeds and York. The village dates back to 1090AD and has a highly respected primary school and many local amenities including two children's nurseries, churches and a village hall, and benefits from two licensed pub/restaurants. Scarthingwell Golf course is a pleasant walk away through parkland which includes a further restaurant. The A64 links Leeds, York and the A1/M1 and provides easy access to the major motorway networks for travel further afield. For the train traveller there is a commuter link at nearby Church Fenton with quick, regular trains to Leeds, York and beyond.

DIRECTIONS

Travelling south along the A162 passing Scarthingwell golf club on the left hand side, upon entering the village turn left onto Main Street immediately after Barkston Ash primary school. After a short time Main Street turns into a left hand bend and becomes Church Street. After this bend, pass the church and farm on your left then turn up the first tarmac driveway on the left, immediately after the farm, Woodstock House is positioned at the top of the driveway.
