A rare opportunity to purchase a highly individual double fronted house of considerable character which is located to the shore side of Birkdale, standing in exceptional gardens.

Constructed around the mid 19th century by John Aughton and later extended, the property is one of a row of three Artisan's cottages built as an addition to the two adjoining cottages which were built to house the Station Master and his Assistant for Birkdale's first railway station. Offering well proportioned accommodation installed with gas central heating this briefly comprises Hall, front Sitting Room, front Living Room, Conservatory leading onto a Verandah overlooking the rear garden, open plan Dining Kitchen, Utility Room and fitted Cloakroom/wc to the ground floor with three double Bedrooms all with en suite Bathrooms (the principal also with en suite Dressing Room). The gardens are an outstanding feature of the property, the front incorporating a driveway leading to the Garage which has a Home Office to the rear, the large rear garden enjoying a southerly aspect.

The location is particularly convenient for access to Lord Street which forms part of Southport town centre, the Promenade, Victoria Park and the beach. Also within walking distance is Birkdale Village with its shops, bars, restaurants and the railway station on the Southport to Liverpool line.
