Description

Yew Tree Farmhouse is a wonderful example of a Grade II Listed principal house, that occupies a prominent and accessible position within Brockford Street.

Believed to date from the mid 16th Century, the property was originally a timber frame Suffolk Hall House, that sat gable onto the road. Later that century additional accommodation was added to create a wider frontage, with a brick and sash window façade added during the Georgian era.

Today, Yew Tree Farmhouse offers a very good amount of accommodation with a delightful entrance hall that links well with the two principal reception rooms. To the rear of the house there is the kitchen/breakfast room, with French doors opening onto the patio and rear garden, as well as a second sitting room/snug, a utility room, pantry and cloakroom. On the first floor there is a principal bedroom with en-suite shower room, three further double bedrooms and a family bathroom. On the second floor, accessed via two separate staircases, there is a fifth double bedroom as well as a large attic room.

Yew Tree Farmhouse also benefits from an excellent range of outbuildings; there is a traditional Suffolk barn, former stables and stores as well as cart lodge garaging. This range of buildings offers tremendous potential for a wide variety of alternative uses, including annexe accommodation, home office or B&B/holiday lettings - subject to the necessary consents.

The gardens and grounds are delightful and contain a wonderful variety of mature specimen flowers, shrubs and trees together with a number of fruit bearing trees including quince, cooking apple, peach, damson and plum. Set within a courtyard area there is also an outdoor swimming pool.

In all, the gardens and grounds extend to approximately 0.82 acres (0.33 hectares).
